

Teaching Term Appointment Position in Physics

Grenfell Campus, Memorial University of Newfoundland, is located in Western Newfoundland in an area of great natural beauty in close proximity to Gros Morne National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The Campus has a population of about 1,300 students and emphasizes innovative approaches to teaching and learning, research and engagement. Experiential learning, impactful research and strong community relationships are the hallmarks of Grenfell's profile. The School of Science and the Environment at Grenfell Campus seeks applications for the following term position:

The Physics program in the School of Science and the Environment, Grenfell Campus, is seeking an 8-month teaching term appointment commencing September 01, 2018 and ending April 30, 2019. This position supports the teaching of six courses throughout the Fall and Winter semesters of 2018-2019.

Duties will include teaching in support of a B. Sc. with a major in physics, a minor in physics in other programs, and a physics stream in an interdisciplinary degree program in General Science. We seek candidates with experience in teaching first-year physics (algebra-based and calculus-based) and second-year physics (e.g. fluids and thermodynamics, computational physics). Preference will be given to candidates with a Ph. D. (or near completion) in physics and relevant formal teaching experience. Candidates with a completed M. Sc. in physics with relevant formal teaching experience will also be considered.

Applications should include (a) a cover letter, (b) curriculum vitae, (c) a teaching dossier including teaching philosophy, and (e) the names and contact information of three referees. Candidates are encouraged to submit their applications in electronic form. Please send your application to:
